Sound advice — no strings attached

You receive objective and independent financial counseling at no cost to you or your beneficiary. PwC, a provider of financial planning, wealth management and counseling services, will help your beneficiary make sound decisions about pressing financial issues, as well as the disposition of life insurance proceeds, without any pressure to buy other financial products.

PwC is a professional services firm with decades of experience in personal financial education and counseling. PwC provides objective, independent financial counseling with absolutely no product sales.

Who is eligible?

To be eligible for the beneficiary counseling service, you must be insured under a group life insurance policy<sup>1</sup>.

Proceeds must be $25,000 or more, based on all coverage. If there are multiple beneficiaries, the level of service is based on each individual beneficiary's proceeds.

Individual, but not institutional, guardians are covered.

How does it work?

Your beneficiary will receive materials explaining the program with the insurance benefit check.

The package will outline the options available for the beneficiary and provide contact information for PwC. Information will only be shared with PwC after an authorization is signed by the beneficiary.

<sup>1</sup>Underwritten by Minnesota Life or Securian Life. Not all policies are available in all states.
